

Public Comment Meetings for Draft Emergency Regulations for Basin Boundary Modification

The Department of Water Resources will hold three public meetings to solicit comments on the Draft Emergency Regulations for Basin Boundary Modification. The Sustainable Groundwater Management Act (SGMA) established a process for local agencies to request that the Department of Water Resources (DWR) modify the boundaries of a groundwater basin, including the establishment of a new subbasin.

By January 1, 2016, DWR is required to adopt emergency regulations that specify the information required to comply with Water Code 10722.2, which outlines the process that local agencies shall follow when requesting modifications to existing boundaries of groundwater basins and subbasins. The basin boundary regulations also identify the methodology and criteria that will be applied by DWR when reviewing and approving the modification requests.
