Delta Levees and Flood Control A Tour for Members of the Media

Tuesday, May 23, 2006

Sponsored by Water Education Foundation
The California Bay-Delta Authority

If your beat is water, agriculture or the environment, this tour is for you! The impartial Water Education Foundation, in conjunction with the California Bay-Delta Authority, invites you to attend a FREE one-day tour of the Delta. Traveling aboard “The Tule Queen” on the Delta’s waterways, speakers will address critical issues facing California’s Delta levees and flood control system, and their role in protecting the quality and supplies of water used in the Delta and in export areas.

You will learn the latest about:

- Building a Delta vision – a discussion of the various processes underway for Delta sustainability
- Levee maintenance, restoration and flood management
- Erosion areas
- High priority sites for levee repairs
- Local district levee management decisions

Tour check-in will begin at 7:45 a.m. at the Water Education Foundation office, 717 K Street, Suite 317 in Sacramento. The program will begin at 8 a.m. with an overview of Delta issues. Parking is available in the Downtown Plaza parking garage at 7th and J streets. The bus will leave promptly at 9:30 a.m. and return to the Foundation offices at approximately 6 p.m.

A complimentary lunch will be served.

En route we will visit:

- Levee restoration sites
- Steamboat Slough
- Grand, Sutter, Ryer and Brannan islands
- Sites of former floods

Seating is limited – register today for this exciting, educational and fun tour!
